A NIGHT ATTACK.

Nicaraguan Rebels Surprise the Government Soldiers.

Bocas Del Torro Attacked by a Body of Well Armed Men, but the Soldiers Triumph.

COLON, Colombia March 22—The following are the details of the attack recently made upon Bocas Del Torro, during which the notorious Mexican bandit, Catarino Garza, was killed:

At about 4 o'clock on Friday morning, March 8, a party of rebels from Nicaragua made a desparate attack upon Bocas Del Torro. The rebels were well armed with Winchester rifles and had embarked at Greytown, Nicaragua, according to one report, or from Port Limon, Costa Rica In any case they reached Bocas Del Torro in the schooner Favor De Dios. The attacking party consisted of fifty men under the leadership of Catarino Garza, Percei Castro and Sofanor More, a lawyer. After landing under the cover of darkness the rebels captured the policemen who were on duty, and after putting a guard over them made an attack upon the calaboose and liberated all the prisoners. The rebels then proceeded up the street with the intention of attacking the quartette which was garrisoned by about forty soldiers, under the command of Lieut. Lopez Before attacking the quartette Garza's band broke into a house belonging to J. H. D. Finke, opposite the quartet, and from the upper story of Mr. Finke's house they opened fire upon the quartet The government soldiers were taken by surprise and some of them were killed while still in their bunks by bullets which passed through the wooden walls of the building. But, when aroused, the soldiers fought gallantly. Their lieutenant was killed. The firing brought a number of citizens to the assistance of the troops and among them Senor Zerafin Joahin, the local political judge, and his secretary, A. R. Perez displayed much bravery. During the fighting ten rebels were killed, fifteen were wounded and twenty five were taken prisoners. On the government side there were four killed and nine wounded. Among the rebels killed were Garza and Castro. As soon as the invaders saw these two men fall, and being utterly unprepared for the determined resistance they had met with, they retreated towards the outskirts of the town and disappeared in the brush. During the encounter an attempt was made to set fire to the town, Castro having charge of this work. He saturated the side of a house with kerosene and was in the act of lighting a match to start the conflagration when he was noticed by a soldier, who shot him dead. The rebels also made an unsuccessful attempt to use dynamite in their operations. At certain periods of the fighting the firing was very wild, and several women were killed. In addition, a child in its mother's arms was shot through the jaw. Miss Nellie Isaacs, the government school mistress, is reported to be among the slain. The government officials, after the engagement, captured the schooner Favor de Dios, and found on board of her eighty rifles, 20,000 cartridges and blankets, clothing and rations. Naturally the attack upon Bocas Del Torro caused great excitement, and at the request of the United States consular agent, D. R. Hand, a detachment of fifty marines from the United States cruiser Atlanta were landed for the protection of American interests. On March 10 a detachment of forty-five soldiers were sent from here to Bocas Del Torro and the marines from the Atlanta re embarked on board that vessel which arrived here the following day. An official bulletin was published on Tuesday, March 12, containing eight short messages to the governor of Panama in regard to the recent victory of the Colombian garrison at Bocas Del Torro. As this letter is mailed a crisis has been reached in the revolution in Colombia. A decisive battle is about to be fought in the department of Santander. General Reyes, the commander of the government troops, is at Cucita with 5,000 men, waiting the arrival of General Mateus, who is at the head of the reinforcement numbering 5,000 men. When these two bodies of troops are joined together a combined attack will be made upon the rebel forces, estimated to number about 6,000 This will be the largest number of men who have met in battle on Colombian soil since the war with Spain. News of the result of this encounter is anxiously expected here. Since the above letter was mailed the Associated Press correspondent at Colon, March 12, cabled that a telegraphic message had been received there from President Caro, dated Bogota, announcing that the revolution in the republic of Colombia was ended. The dispatch added that the triumph of General Reyes over the rebels had been complete, the decisive engagement referred to in the letter from Colon was fought near Medagau department of Santander. It was also announced that a rebel force numbering 3,000 men was defeated by General Mateus at Cucita. The rebels retreated toward Boyaca and there surrendered to General Mateus.

FIRE AND PANIC.

Four Girls Badly Injured by Jumping.

Annie Hans, an Employe in a Match Factory, Sets Her Clothes on Fire. Creating the Panic.

CHICAGO, March 22—Fire in the Square Match company's works at Union and Erie streets today caused a panic among the fifty girl employes. One was perhaps fatally burned and three others seriously injured by jumping from the second story windows. The injured are

Annie Hans
Jennie Warner.
Roy Tate.
Unknown girl

The injured were removed to a hospital where, it was said, that all would recover with the possible exception of Annie Hans, who caused the fire. She was opening a box of matches, which ignited, setting fire to her clothes. Rushing screaming through the factory, she scattered the burning matches about the place, setting the building on fire. Dashing through a second story window she fell senseless to the pavement followed by a dozen of the terror stricken girls. The remainder of the employes escaped by the stairway and fire escapes. The fire was extinguished with slight loss.

FIGHT WITH TRAMPS.

South Bend Officials Experience a Bloody Time.

Six of the Eight Belligerent Robos Captured and Placed in the County Jail.

SOUTH BEND, March 22—A desperate battle between tramps and officers took place at Bremen, near this city, this morning. The officers were victorious and now have six of the eight tramps in jail in this city. The prisoners gave their names as Charles Cooper, Fred Pryor, Joseph Boyle, William Lewis, Charles Wilson and Daniel Hamilton, and they are suspected of being implicated in a robbery at Littlejohn. They appeared before Judge Hubbard and were held in $800 each. They will probably be tried at this term of the circuit court. Two tramps are still at large.

TWO MINUTES TO BE MADE.

Budd Doble Confident Trotters Will Beat the Present Mark.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 22—Budd Doble, the noted horseman, who stopped off here on his way to Chicago, talked for a time about his string for the coming season. He expressed the belief that a two-minute mark would be reached, but not necessarily this year. The principal horses in which he places confidence are Stranger, Ballona, 2.11¼; Prince Herschell, 2:13, and Ellard, 2.09¾

Doble depreciated betting on races and said it should be abolished in order to elevate racing. Regarding the formation of an American sporting league he said: "I believe the effort is commendable. It will do much to put racing on its merits. The National and American Trotting associations should have taken cognizance of the condition before now."

BEER WAR.

All Hopes of a Compromise Have Been Abandoned.

CHICAGO, March 22—Efforts to stop the beer war that has been going on for several months have failed.

Henry Bigelow, of Boston, who undertook the difficult task of consolidating the independent brewers, says that he has no reason now for supposing that a combine will be formed this season.

Farmer Killed.

PERRY, O. T., March 22—James E. Ball, a well-to-do farmer, was killed ten miles north of here while returning home from this place. William Stovell was arrested, charged with the shooting, owing to some threats Stovall had made over a claim to some land which Ball had possession of.

LOCAL LINES.

The Rev. P. H. Dippell, of Philadelphia, stopped off here yesterday afternoon to visit some friends. He is en route to Huntington, where he is to hold the funeral service for the late Mr. Stout, which takes place today.

Ed Gilmartin, Herman Berghoff, Louis Fox and John Sulzer went down to Rome City this afternoon, where Messrs. Fox and Gilmartin are preparing to build cottages. They intended to go this morning, but Messrs. Berghoff, Fox and Sulzer got aboard of the Pittsburg train, which leaves a few minutes in advance of the Grand Rapids train, and did not discover their mistake until a mile beyond the junction. Then the conductor let them off and they took "cross lots" for the Grand Rapids road, expecting to catch the train at the coal docks But they were too late When Mr. Gilmartin discovered that his companions were not on the Rapids train, he alighted at his pole yards and came back to the city to look for them. They came in an hour later, footsore and weary

We have had the words booklet and novelette, and they have grown familiar. But we never expected to be obliged to live in this world of sin and sorrow till that monstrous word "storiette" was evolved from some silly brain. "Storiette" is the drop too much. It is indeed.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Fails to Cure a Sick Woman in California.

She Dies After Two Weeks' of Agony and Now Her Husband Will be Arrested for Criminal Negligence.

LOS ANGELES, Cal, March 22—Mrs. Ella Samis, the wife of a Whitier blacksmith, gave birth to a child two weeks ago During her confinement she was denied the usual medical attendance and even skilled nursing Instead of providing medicine and nourishing food, her husband, a Christian scientist, summoned a practitioner of that belief, whose sole treatment consisted in praying for the young mother's recovery. After three days' of this treatment a violent fever set in. Even then homely remedies were despised, prayer still constituting the sole treatment. The woman died this morning and the husband will be summoned before a coroner's jury to explain his action

RECALLS AN OLD CRIME.

Governor Matthews Pardons Joseph Wade, a Murderer.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 22—The pardon of Joseph Wade from the northern prison by Governor Matthews recalls a crime that created intense excitement in this county fifteen years ago. Wade was a saloonkeeper and lived with a Mrs. Brown while her husband was serving a term in the penitentiary. Soon after BROWN'S return home his body was found at a railroad crossing with the head crushed, and near by was found a buggy bespattered with blood. All the indications pointed to murder and Wade and Mrs. Brown were arrested for the crime and both convicted and given life sentences, one of the children testifying that Mrs. Brown had killed their father. Wade is in poor health and was pardoned on that account.

She went to open the cellar door and an explosion occurred The gun had been discharged, the contents taking effect in the woman's lower limbs, making frightful wounds. She will be crippled for life.

The authorities will probably arrest him on a criminal charge.

In disarming the convict, other guards had narrow escapes. No cause for the act is known. It is believed the Indian is insane.

A FAITHFUL SERVANT.

Death of Isabel Workman, Who Was Born a Slave.

She Had Served Four Generations in One Family—Her Last Days Made Comfortable.

Yesterday afternoon at the home of Hon. Walpole G. Colerick occurred the death of Isabella Workman, who was born a slave some ninety years ago and who has faithfully served four generations in the family with which she spent her last days.

She was born in Brownsville, Pa, in the family of Neal Gillespie, the grandfather of James G. Blaine, and the great grandfather of Mrs John Barwill, W. G. Henry and P. B. Colerick, of this city, when slaves were still held there, and was the daughter of black parents. At the death of Neal Gillespie she became by will the property of his daughter, Mrs Luke Walpole, the testament describing her as "one black pickaninny, aged four years, value $10." But Isabella Workman never knew she was a slave. Luke Walpole and his wife kept her as a servant when they removed to Indianapolis, and she was never told of the circumstances of her early life. At the death of Luke Walpole she passed into the service of his son, Robert L. Walpole, who became then the head of the family, and subsequently came to this city, where she was housekeeper for Mrs. David H. Colerick, a daughter of Luke Walpole and a sister of Robert L. Walpole When James G. Blaine visited Fort Wayne he had a long and interesting talk with Miss Belle, as she was familiarly known.

The last days of this historic character were made pleasant as the loving care of an appreciative family could bestow, and in her death the Colerick family feels a truly personal loss.

The remains will be shipped to Indianapolis for interment.

CHERRY

Alice, the wife of Conductor Robert Cherry, of the Nickel Plate, died Thursday morning of consumption at the age of forty years. The deceased lived at 38 St. Marys avenue. The remains will be shipped to Ohio for interment, over the Findlay, Fort Wayne and Western road tomorrow.

A Part of the New South.

Julian Ralph's description in Harper's Magazine of northern Alabama, Tennessee and Georgia reads rather like some tale of the magical growth of a region under the spell of an enchanter's wand. In 1880 the great industrial revival in the south began. It was literally a revolution of the old industrial systems.

From Roanoke, Va., to Birmingham, Ala., extends the great coal and iron region of the south. It spreads into West Virginia and eastern Kentucky. In Kentucky the coal veins yield pure cannel, semianthracite and bituminous coal. The Chattanooga district contains 26,000 square miles in three states, Tennessee, northern Alabama and Georgia. One mining plant near Birmingham turns out 600,000 tons of high grade coking coal in a year.

A remarkable fact connected with the mining belt in question is that all through its extent iron ore, limestone and coal run along together. Within a stone's throw of the coal mine is the vein of iron ore, and in the mountain sides is the limestone to make the lime used in smelting and clearing the iron ore. With coal, iron and lime thus together under ground and a soil richly adapted to grazing, farming and fruit raising above, the new south is indeed blest beyond almost any other region on the globe.

The men that take the lead in developing the mineral resources of the south are themselves chiefly southerners. But the capital they use is northern and British. In the year 1870, 150,000 tons of pig iron were made in the Chattanooga district. Twenty years afterward 1,800,000 tons were made. The iron is sent north to be manufactured. The new south has yet few factories where iron and steel articles are made. She must still send north for nearly all her plows and cooking stoves. But the factories will come. Plainly nature in thus putting cheap fuel and iron mines together meant factories to follow.

Mining and manufacturing can be carried on cheaper in the south than in the north. Labor is cheaper, and the climate is milder. The negroes make good miners when they are strictly "bossed." Mr. Ralph says. And there is no boss so savage and merciless as a black one. The negroes usually mine the iron ore and white men the coal. The mining region of which the Chattanooga district is part includes seven states—the two Virginias, North Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee, Alabama and Kentucky.

The city of Morocco, lately plundered and damaged by the sultan's own rebel subjects, was founded as long ago as 1072. At the beginning of the seventeenth century it had a population of 700,000. Now it is falling into ruin and decay and has only 50,000 inhabitants. Its decline marks with equal step the ruin and decay of the Moorish race, formerly a noble, cultivated and proud people. The Moors preserved about all the science and civilization there were in the middle ages. Their decline can be accounted for in no other way than by the conclusion that as a race they have lived their time out. As they went down, so the Anglo-Saxon race will go down sooner or later.

MORE BURGLARS ABOUT.

Police Called to an East Washington Street Home.

The Three Burglars Caught by Citizens Yesterday Bound Over in the Sum of $500 Each.

Between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock last night the police were hastily called to the home of a well-known and prominent citizen, who lives on East Washington street, near the corner of Clay. The gentleman of the house was away and his wife and mother-in-law were badly scared by three men, who made persistent efforts to enter the residence. It appears that three tough looking fellows entered the yard at the same time. Two of them approached the front door and knocked When the door was opened the men took a careful survey of the interior and then asked if a man named Mr. Brown lived there. Upon being told no they went out on the sidewalk where they remained for some moments talking in a low voice. Not long afterward the thoroughly frightened ladies heard a noise in the back yard, near the house. When the back door was opened the same three men were found in the yard. They all ran as the door was opened but not long afterwards there was another knock at the front door The ladies again opened the door and this time only one man stood there He asked if a man named Jones lived in the neighborhood.

This time the cheeky intruder was told to clear out as quickly as his legs would carry him as the police had been notified. The fellow slunk away and a moment later the police were called for by telephone.

The officers searched the entire neighborhood but could get no traces of the three men. There is no doubt in the minds of the officers but that the fellows were bent on robbing the place later in the evening, and had inquired at the house as a means of informing themselves as to who was at home.

SCARED AWAY.

Night before last burglars attempted to enter the home of N. Conover, on East Wayne street, but were scared away by the family dog, who raised a fearful racket.

ROUND OVER

This morning, before Mayor Oakley, the three burglars who were yesterday run down and captured by citizens in the eastern part of the city, were up for trial. Two gave their names as John Raymond and Wm. Roney, but the younger of the three refused to give his name. It is presumed from papers found upon one of the men that all three prisoners are west side Chicago toughs. They plead not guilty, but the evidence against them was conclusive. They were therefore bound over to the circuit court in the sum of $500 each and all went to jail

GEN. JAS B. STEADMAN.

It He Was Killed He Wanted His Name Spelled Right.

[Hartford City News.]

Yesterday while placing in type the name of Dr. J. W. Younge an intelligent News compositor chose to reject the final "e" as unnecessary and set up the name plain "Young." The doctor called later to express his disapprobation of the compositor's methods and also to tell a story that was appropriate to the occasion.

"Just before the battle of Chicamauga," said the doctor, 'Gen. Jas. B. Steadman was seized with a presentment that he would be killed before night. Such presentments were not uncommon and they not infrequently came true. Gen. Steadman's brother officers tried to discourage his paying any attention to the premonition, but he could not shake off the impression that his end was near. Finally a newspaper correspondent approached the general, and failing to cheer him up, asked:

"'Well, general, in case you are killed, what can I do for you.'

"Now, if there was one thing that annowed General Steadman more than another it was to have his name spelled Steadman—with a double 'e' instead of an 'ea'—as the newspapers almost invariably got it Quick as a flash the general answered:

"'What can you do for me? Why, you can spell my name right in your account of my death.'

"The general went through the battle of Chicamauga safe, but there was one newspaper correspondent who ever after took pains to spell his name right, and that's what I want you to do with mine."

The Cake Walk at Randall Hall Attracts Fort Wayne's Four Hundred—It Was Funny.

There are cake walks and there are other walks but a young man named Parker, who lives at Wallen, Allen county, performed a feat this week which lays cake walks and all else of a like nature in the shade On Sunday last Parker, who is about twenty five years of age, received a letter from Plymouth announcing the illness of a friend at that town Having no large amount of ready cash he determined, instead of taking the train to walk over and see his friend. He, therefore, set out from Westley Chapel at 5 o'clock on Monday morning He arrived in Plymouth on Tuesday, having walked the entire distance He spent the day with his friend and also staid all night in Plymouth On Wednesday morning he set out for Warsaw before daylight, arriving in that town at 8 o'clock He rested a few moments and then set out for Fort Wayne, arriving here at 7 o'clock in the evening Parker did not seem particularly fatigued, and when seen by a SENTINEL representative in Dreier's drug store he was standing with his back to the stove and eating colored taffy out of a large sized paper sack

About 8.30 o'clock Parker started out afoot for his home in Wallen, saying he guessed he would get there and go to bed early "as he was a little tired."

[THE CAKE WALK

Between 400 and 500 persons, many of them ladies and gentlemen whose pleasure is the Fort Wayne club, attended the cake walk given by the Apollo club, last evening.

Casso's orchestra furnished music and at 9 30 the grand march began, led by John Stewart and Miss Riggs This was followed by specialties given by Fred Jones and Julian Anthony. The great cake walk was then announced. The judges were Messrs Louis Fox, John Mohr, Robert Fisher, W. H Watt and E J. Hathorne, and the cake walkers were: John Stewart and Miss Lena Richardson, Harry Brown and Mrs. Carrie Gresham, Edward Jones and Miss May Parker, Dr. N. Louis Myers and Mrs. Bradshaw, William Dorsey and Miss Daisy Jones, William Oliver and Miss Grace Gales.

The exhibition which followed was highly amusing and, of course, entertaining Such a "swell" was never out in Fort Wayne by an equal number of colored ladies and gentlemen. At the conclusion Robert Fisher announced the winners as follows. Harry Brown and Carrie Gresham, the silver water pitcher as the best walkers, John Stewart and Lena Richardson, the second prize for the handsomest couple, Dr. Meyers and his partner, the third prize for the best dressed couple.

The audience then dispersed, but those who lingered in the hall were soon aware of a dark storm cloud with threatening, razor like gleams of lightning, which appeared to be gathering in the distance. The cloud passed over, however, and it did not rain—blood.

NICHOLSON BILL EFFECTS.

Judge Elliott Talks of Various Sections of the Act.

Judge Byron K. Elliott, of Indianapolis, was asked by the Daily News of that city to give his opinion regarding some of the provisions of the Nicholson bill, concerning which there has been some controversy. His answers will be interesting to many of our readers and are as follows.

"Under the Nicholson bill can a saloonkeeper carry on any other business in the room where he has a bar?"

"Section 2 of the act is very obscure," was the reply. "It is difficult to say just what it means. It starts out by forbidding the sale of other things than intoxicating liquors in a room, but it provides that nothing in the provisions of this act shall be construed to forbid the sale of cigars and tobacco in such places of business. It also provides that if the applicant for a license desires to carry on any other, or different business, he shall state the same in his application for license, and the same may be granted or refused by the board of commissioners

"The rule is that penal statutes are to be strictly construed, and I am inclined to think, although I have some doubt upon the question, that a party may be licensed to carry on other business in connection with the sale of intoxicating liquors. But the matter is left to the discretion of the commissioners. The author of section 2 does not seem to have had a very clear idea of what he intended to accomplish, and it will take a judicial construction to settle the meaning of the section."

"What, in your, opinion, will be the effect of the Nicholson bill on the quart shops?'

"From the cursory examination I have been able to give this law, my impression is—and it is but a vague impression—that the law does not apply to where greater quantities of liquor than a quart at a time are sold. As to this, however, I may be wrong, because I have not given the subject sufficient study."

'Does the United States government by collecting revenue from druggists for selling whisky between quart and five gallon quantities thereby extend to such druggists the right to sell beyond the possibilty of state interference?'

'No The state may regulate the sale of intoxicating liquors The law recognizes the business of selling intoxicating liquors as one requiring legislation by the state, and the police power of the state is broad enough to authorize it to regulate the sale within its own borders, and, in my judgment, to absolutely prohibit the sale, should the legislature deem absolute prohibition required by the best interests of the people of the state"

"Will one prescription from a reputable physician, in the hands of the druggist, only answer for the sale of spirits in less quantities than a quart to one person a single time, or will the one prescription serve the druggist for many cases and for an indefinite period?"

"No. The statute requires a prescription for each sale. The law can not be evaded, as I believe, by taking out a perpetual prescription from any doctor in the state"

ANOTHER WILD RACE.

Supt. H. W. Felts Catches a Bicycle Thief.

The Fellow Had Stolen a Wheel From W. B. Phillips—Locked Up at the Station.

These are evil days for wrong doers in and about Fort Wayne.

Wednesday, near the corner of Superior and Harrison streets, a fine bicycle owned by W. B. Phillips, of the Fort Wayne steam laundry, was stolen by some unknown person. The wheel had been borrowed by one of Phillips' employes, who went out on an errand and had lift the bike standing at the curb.

Yesterday it was learned that a man riding a wheel which answered the description of the one stolen had been seen riding towards Wallen. Mr. Phillips sent one of his employes out with a buggy, but got no traces of the wheel. It appears, however, that the thief, instead of going to Wallen, went southwest, staying last night at Heiser's saloon, four miles southwest of the city.

This morning H. W. Felts, superintendent of the poor farm, and County Physician Tinkham were about eight miles in the country in a buggy, as Mr. Felts was looking at a horse which he was thinking of buying.

On their way back the two gentlemen met a young man riding a wheel at a rapid rate and acting in a suspicious manner. He was stopped and asked where he got the "bike." Failing to give a satisfactory answer, Superintent Felts took the fellow in custody and started towards this city.

At the organ factory Mr. Felts got out of the buggy and went in to telephone to Sheriff Clausmeier. While this was being done the thief broke away and ran. Felts started after him and ran the fellow to a point not far from the Pittsburg pumping station near this city.

The race was a wild one and pursued and pursuer went over fences and through muddy ditches at a mad rate.

Mr. Felts kept a tight hold on the thief when he finally caught him and the fellow was brought to this city and locked up at the police station.

He gave his name as John Waters. He is about twenty-five years old and is well known about the city.

THE Goshen Democrat has donned a handsome new dress.

THE Kendallville News is again a weekly paper having abandoned the twice a week feature.

A GOOD deal of fun was poked at the ground hog but he hit it a good deal closer than either Foster or Hicks.

GOVERNOR MCKINLEY, of Ohio, who is at Thomasville, Ga., is suffering from grip. He is threatened with pneumonia.

A DENVER woman has started a weekly paper called the Kiss. Every unmarried editor will be willing to put her paper on the exchange list.

IF THE occasion should demand, there will be no trouble about getting an army in this country sufficient to spoil the map of Spain. The forces could be raised in two days.

THE foot ball players, comparing their game with the disgraceful fight during the closing hours of the Indiana legislature, say that foot ball is not brutal. Comparatively speaking, they may be right.

A CHICAGO matrimonial agent who advertised to furnish heiresses for marriage at twenty five cents each or three for fifty cents, has been put to jail presumably for overcharging his customers.

SENATOR TURPIE, who has returned to Indianapolis from Washington, is purveyor of the information that Senator Voorhees is not going to enter the lecture field, as reported. "The senator never had any idea of delivering a lecture," said Mr. Turpie, Wednesday, "and the rumor was simply a newspaper canard."

ADJUTANT GENERAL ROBBINS says he does not yet know whether it will be possible to increase the number of companies in the Indiana legion. Under the new militia act the number of companies can be increased to fifty one, but the appropriation was reduced so much, the adjutant says, that it will be impossible to add many new companies, if any. Under the law the governor has full authority to say when, where and how long the annual encampment shall be held. The adjutant said that until the governor gets some of the pressing work off his hands, the time and place of this year's encampment will not be discussed. It is believed that the encampment will be held near Indianapolis.

THE SENTINEL of Saturday is always the best paper of the week being twice the usual size and full of interesting and instructive reading matter. THE SENTINEL tomorrow will be a brilliant number. Our readers can be prepared to find in it several articles which will be sure to please them.

PEOPLE who claim to know all about it say this will be a bad year for maple sugar business. The sugar makers were encouraged to believe that owing to the severe cold winter, deep snow and supposed depth of frost in the ground that it would be a good year but to their surprise but little sap is running. They account for this from the fact that there is but very little moisture in the ground.

CONCERNING some of the provisions of the Nicholson bill there is, perhaps, real reason to doubt their meaning. THE SENTINEL today gives the opinion of Judge Elliott, of Indianapolis, on some of the sections. It is a matter of regret that he confirms the opinion already expressed during the debate on the bill, that some of the sections have not been carefully drawn. But in its vital parts we believe that the law is fortified constitutionally.

THE supreme court of the state has decided the case involving the distribution of the dog tax fund in Center township of Marion county. The court holds that the township trustee is required to turn over to each school corporation in his township its proportionate share of the surplus dog fund in his hands, pro rata according to the enumeration in each school corporation. It is held that the custody of the fund is in the township trustee, but he must account to each school town and each school city within his township for its proportionate share of the surplus. It is held that in case a town or city extends into two or more townships the same rule must be applied.

The Chen Yuen Again

It is hard to understand just why the reliable cable correspondent has such a spite at the Chinese crack battleship Chen Yuen. At the first skirmish on the water between the Japanese and Chinese, the correspondent told us the Chen Yuen was sunk to the bottom of the sea. This was very sad, and it was thought now that China must give up at once. But, behold, at the mouth of the Yalu river the Chen Yuen was hopelessly killed dead and sunk again.

But the Chen Yuen has a remarkable faculty of lifting herself out of the depths of the ocean and sailing in and fighting anew. After she had been finally sunk at Yalu she appears serenely in the straits about Port Arthur and goes into the fight as desperately as anything Chinese can go into a fight. Again this much battered Chen Yuen is hopelessly sunk by the Japs at Port Arthur.

We breathe a sigh to her memory and also a sigh of relief that this time her loss is a dead sure thing and we shall no longer be obliged to reconstruct our ideas over her.

But no! The very latest is that she was not sunk at all, but is above water and that Chinese workmen are repairing her for the Japanese, who captured her. Great is the American cable correspondent at the seat of war.

Public interest was divided the week of the Gould wedding between that and another event—namely, the Vanderbilt divorce. Our leading million aire families whatever else them sins and shortcomings, have been thus far singularly free from domestic scandals. In that respect they were a model to their fellow countrymen. But now the record is broken in both the Vanderbilt and Astor families. At the same time that the divorce of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt from her husband is granted the petition of J. Coleman Drayton for divorce from his wife, Caroline Astor Drayton, is in court, as well as her cross petition against him. All right minded people must regret these suits. Divorce is justifiable and necessary at times but it ought not to be either justifiable or necessary in families that have all that earth can afford to make them happy as well as honorable and clean morally. People with the millions and the social standing of the Astors and Vanderbilts ought to hold it incumbent on themselves to set a respectable example to the world. And whatever any crank may say too highest and best development of society thus far is the family and a beautiful, wholesome, pure and loving family life. From it has sprung whatever is best in social progress.

New York city has quarreled chronically over allowing the flags of other nations, particularly the green flag of Erin, to wave over her city hall on holidays. Whatever nationality was able to muster a compact body of voters at election time wanted the right to exploit their birthplace by a display of their old country emblem on the city flagpoles on Washington's birthday and other American festal days. The Irish, being the governors of New York, gained their point. The green flag with the yellow harp flaunted proudly in the breeze alongside of the stars and stripes. Now it can do so no longer. The legislature not recently passed on the subjects prohibits the flying of any flag except that of the United States over public buildings.

The fate of Wilbur W. Perry ought to be a warning to all men who desire to be members of a state legislature. Perry is said to have been the most promising student Yale has graduated in 25 years. All the world was before him. But in an evil hour he permitted himself to be elected a member of the general assembly of Connecticut. While a member of that body he acquired the taste for whisky and thence slides in downfall. From a member of the legislature he became a common drunkard, and in the cold weather this winter perished miserably. During a wild debauch he wandered one night into a vacant lot and was found there next morning with hands and feet frozen stiff.

The tenacious little cape is with us still, and is likely to remain in fashion so long as sleeves keep their present condition of fullness. It varies in length from the waist to a point just below the shoulders, and the most dressy one for spring is made of black velvet, cut very full on the edge, and with a yoke which fits closely, and is covered with another pointed yoke shaped piece of silk or velvet, elaborately jetted and spangled below which falls a frill of black accordian plaited chiffon or fine lace. Ruches of satin ribbon or chiffon finish the neck.

PLEASANTLY SURPRISED.

The members of the Epworth League of the Wayne street M. E. church planned and carried into execution last evening a very pleasant and successful surprise on their pastor, Rev. Dr. G. N. Eldridge and wife. In view of the fact that they are soon to leave the city, it was arranged to give them a sort of greeting as an evidence of the love and esteem in which they are held by the young people. Accordingly the Doctor and Mrs. Eldridge were invited to tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Jenness where Mr. W. H. Holt the president of the Epworth league, met them and prevented their return home until after 8 o'clock. In the meantime the Epworth leaguers, numbering nearly one hundred young ladies and gentlemen, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Quince, 5a South Broadway, and about 8 o'clock marched to the home of Dr. Eldridge a few squares away, on Maple avenue, with fruits and other refreshments. They took possession of the house and awaited the coming of the pastor and his wife. Both of them were taken thoroughly by surprise but they accommodated themselves to the situation and made the evening pass in a thoroughly enjoyable manner to all.

An impromptu musical and literary program added to the pleasures of the evening. Mrs. Dr. McCurdy in an artistic manner, rendered a piano selection. Prof. Wolf and Mrs. W. H. Holt humorous recitations and Mrs. Dr. Eldridge an exercise in the deaf and dumb language accompanying in the sign language the mute part to the song 'Nearer My God to Thee' as sung by a duo. Mrs. Eldridge was for several years the superintendent of the deaf and dumb state asylum of Colorado and is most proficient in the silent language. Her exercise was a most beautiful one indeed. The young people enjoyed themselves until a late hour.

The Modern Invalid

Has tastes medicinally, in keeping with other luxuries. A remedy must be pleasantly acceptable in form, purely wholesome in composition, truly beneficial in effect and entirely free from every objectionable quality. If really ill he consults a physician, if constipated he uses the gentle family laxative Syrup of Figs.

STATE NEWS.

Five hundred enthusiastic temperance workers joined at Kokomo in welcoming Senator O'Brien and Representative Nicholson and a number of speeches were made. Mayor Kirkpatrick presided. Resolutions were adopted favoring the enforcement of all temperance laws.

John Wolke of Center township Wayne county who mysteriously disappeared two weeks ago to avoid arrest for forgery voluntarily returned night before last and surrendered to the sheriff saying that he was guilty. Wolke was committed to jail. He pleads that he was hard pressed financially. He has a wife and seven children.

Lillie Schwartz employed as a domestic at Cincinnati and sick with the smallpox, escaped from control of the Cincinnati health authorities and returned to her home at Milhausen. She remained at the depot at Greensburg for some time, talking with friends, and she also visited a store where a number of people were exposed to the contagion.

There was much excitement at Flora over the conduct of Mahlon Eller, a saloonkeeper, who whipped his daughters twelve and fourteen years old, respectively, because they united with the church and joined in felicitations over the passage of the Nicholson bill. A great crowd determined to wreak vengeance on Eller but cooler counsels prevailed, and he was unharmed.

Mrs. Anna E. Thomas, of Dayton, Ohio, who has concluded a series of lectures on spiritualism at Anderson, has brought suit against the Anderson Bulletin for $50 000 damages for libel. Recently another medium was arrested on a sensational charge in that city, and it is alleged that, in commenting upon that affair, the Bulletin brought Mrs. Thomas' character into question.

During a meeting of the city council of Marion James Thoburn an accredited representative of the Trades council, made a bitter attack on the municipal government, more especially the police force, alleging that illegal and exhorbitant fees had been extorted in cases of arrest for misdemeanors, and that the trades council had seriously considered the advisability of investigating the system of illegal plundering which seemed to exist. The mayor replied to this attack by calling for a special committee to investigate the city dockets and records.

A new fence will soon enclose the vacant lot at the corner of Clinton and Holman streets, which is owned by the Pennsylvania company. Carpenters are now at work upon the fence.

Engine 213 was turned out of the Wabash shops today. This was one of the locomotives damaged in the fire at Toledo. Other engines due to leave the shop this week are Nos. 19, 211 and 182

Gus Boltz, who is here on the sad mission of burying his son, Ferdinand F. Boltz, is a machinist by trade and served an apprenticeship in the Wabash shops. In 1868 he left the Wabash and went to the Pittsburg shops, where he worked until 1870. All the old employes there know Mr. Boltz and speak well of him.

Engineer Donahue is taking a few days' rest. He is employed on the Nickel Plate.

Mrs. Ellen Dawson, mother of the well known Pittsburg conductor, is dangerously ill at her residence, 46 Chicago street.

The New York Central has engine 888, a duplicate of 999, in service, and last week it hauled four cars from Albany to Utica, ninety-five miles, in ninety minutes.

Nickel Plate Brakemen Tobey and T. J. Connors, who were on the absentee list for some time, returned to work yesterday. Brakeman Rafferts is now taking a lay off.

Theodore Cutshall, the employe of the Olds Wagon works who had a foot mangled three weeks ago, is now sitting up and is getting along nicely. He will soon be out, though for awhile he will have to use crutches.

Michael Hausbach, a Wabash machinist, was brought home last night in a bad condition. He was sent to Toledo to work at the wreckage in the burned roundhouse, and in crawling out from under an engine stepped on a rusty nail, which ran far into his foot. The wound is a deep one and liable to cause serious trouble, although no alarming symptoms are now present

Dr. M. F. Porter accompanied the injured man to his home, on West DeWald street.

Next Monday the Panhandle depot at Marion, Ind., will be open for business. It is a handsome building, equipped with all modern improvements and lighted by electricity.

R. Knickemeyer, of 159 Montgomery street, had two fingers amputated yesterday. Dr. Stemen performed the operation. The unfortunate man is a car builder and is employed in the east shops.

Although no circular has been issued by the Southern Passenger association announcing the fact, it is stated that the reunion of union and confederate veterans which takes place in Houston, Texas, in May, has been granted a rate of one cent a mile.

Joseph Rauner, who has been afflicted with asthma for a great many years and who has been unable to work for three months, is now confined to his bed and is in a bad way physically. Mr. Rauner is an employe of the Pittsburg blacksmith shop.

The labor organizations on the Union Pacific have for some years employed a walking delegate to look after reported grievances at a salary of $2,500 a year, and they have now voted to dispense with his services. It is stated that on several other railway systems similar action is being taken.

Leonard Jockel has gone to Cleveland, Ohio, to attend the funeral of his brother, Christopher Jockel, of whose death he was appraised by telegraph yesterday. The deceased was one of Cleveland's most prominent contractors and builders. Mrs. Jockel accompanied her husband to Cleveland.

Employes of the American Express company are uneasy, as at several points of late there have been changes, not only in officials but in the clerical departments, where men have long held their positions. Two of the division superintendents have been reduced in rank and some of the route agents discharged.

Employes of the Panhandle lines have received notice that they will be required to enter on another course of instructions on the airbrake, on April 1. Yesterday at Valparaiso Henry Heck, the lad who attempted to wreck a Nickel Plate train a few weeks ago, was brought before Judge John H Gillotte, in the circuit court, and after a preliminary examination regarding his sanity, which was the defense his attorneys made and which was not substantiated, he was sentenced to seven years at hard labor in the Michigan City penitentiary. Heck is only nine teen years old and of a very low order of intelligence. Attorney Samuel L Morris, of this city, represented the Nickel Plate company in the case.

The simultaneous appearance in Seattle, Wash., of E. V. Debs, of the American Railway union, and John M. Egan, ex president of the General Managers' association, which conducted the great railroad strike, has resulted in trouble. In an interview last Monday Egan spoke severely of Debs, charging him with responsibility for the idleness of hundreds of men who have been in the railroad business many years and were competent in many ways. He animadverted severely on Debs's union and its strike methods. After reading this interview Debs addressed a mass meeting, at which he scored Egan in a most savage manner, openly accusing him of dishonesty, etc. He loudly asserted that Egan would never meet him in private or public and discuss "who were the conspirators," for he (Egan) knew who they were and what would be the result.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

THE ART OF ACTING.

Some Simple Stage Directions Laid Down by the Gifted Boucicault.

[Special Correspondence.]

NEW YORK, March 11.—"As the painter and the sculptor imitate on canvas or in stone—that is, the figures of persons or objects in repose—so the actor imitates on the stage nature in action," were the words often spoken to his pupils by the late Dion Boucicault, the Shakespeare of the nineteenth century.

He taught his pupils that the rudiments of the art of acting were gait, gesture and speech. He taught them to walk with a book on their heads until they could carry it perfectly balanced, a proof of a good carriage. On entering the stage use the foot away from the audience, thus throwing the body in full view on the entrance. When an actor and actress walk across the stage together, the actress should be near the audience, the actor a step ahead of her. If she wear a train, it will be easier for them to turn with grace. In making a turn take a step to one side and do not move around on the ball of the foot. In sitting down place the right foot so that all the weight will be upon it, place the left a little in front of it and sink into the chair with a side movement, then turn to the front.

In regard to gesture, forget you have hands and feet. Do not fidget. Remain quiet. When not called upon for action, stand or sit with as much grace and ease as possible. Use the hand nearest an object, such as a letter, when it is necessary to pass it. Take it from one hand to the other, never moving the arm across the body. In making a movement with the arms make it from the shoulder—not from the elbow, as it stunts a graceful motion.

A professional of ability listens with natural attention to the scene that is being enacted. As a rule, the amateur starts into action only when he speaks and relapses into utter indifference when silent. When one has become a good listener, one has taken an important step in the art of acting, as significant as the artistic utterance of the emotions. Elocution was taught when pupils were supposed to have obtained control of the stage as an actor or actress. As Boucicault said, "It cannot hurt you now." Action should always precede speech, so it stands to reason elocution should be taught last and not first.

"Elocution teaches how to manage the voice, how and when to take breath and the few conventional gestures that must occasionally relieve speech. Such a process can never produce an actor. A finished actor will not let you feel you can prophesy what he will say and do under certain circumstances. When bound by an ironclad elocutionary tuition, passion becomes vehemence; gesture may be correct, but it is not spontaneous; expression may be admirable, but not inspiring. The elocutionist is the hack of a conventional art.

Scarcely a pupil ever went to Boucicault who did not know the "potion scene" from "Romeo and Julies." The great actor would let the aspirant rant through the scene, and if he did not give a grunt and say, "Go home and make pies, my dear," he would hand her a typewritten scene and say, "If you can do this, I can make an actress of you." Scene, a drawing room, which a young girl enters. She is expecting a visit from her lover; exhibits impatience; sits down at a work table; selects needlework; proceeds to employ herself; listens; a bell rings. It is her Beau to the door; receives a letter; reads; is disappointed by its contents; angry; resumes work with assumed indifference; passes through the various forms of humor, ending with a burst of tears.

This whole scene was in pantomime No implements such as thread, needle, thimble or letter was the actress allowed. All of us could "spout" Shakespeare, but it took us a month to do that simple scene naturally. The French method of acting is to address a soliloquy to the audience. In England and America the actor ignores the spectators. The latter is certainly the more natural method. How many amateurs in a pathetic scene would be willing to stake their honor that they could secure a signal triumph if they could weep real wet tears! The great actor carries you with him in his grief, but he does not make himself incoherent by natural sobs His art is so exquisite he convinces you all he assumes is natural.

MAUDE JAMES CHILTON.

Had a Big Trade.

"I thought you said you had worked up a good trade here," said the man who had just bought a drug store.

"So I had," replied the man who had just sold. "I put in six months working it up, and it's the best in this district."

"Best in the district!" exclaimed the purchaser. "Why, a man can't make enough money here to keep his shoes shined."

"Well," admitted the other slowly, "I didn't say anything about making money, you know."

"But you said you had a big trade."

"Yes, I said that."

"Steady stream of people coming and going most of the day."

"I recall saying something to that effect."

"Claimed your unfailing courtesy to all comers was responsible for it."

"Well, I think it was."

"Then where's the trade now? I haven't sold anything but postage stamps all day."

"That's the trade I referred to," explained the former proprietor pleasantly. "In spite of your insinuations, sir, when I left this place it had the largest postage stamp trade in this ward, and if you have lost it it is your own fault. By the way, I have a letter to mail myself. If you would like my trade"—

He was quicker than the new proprietor, and so escaped.—Chicago Evening Post.

Priscilla—Because I like Ethel.—Vogue.

A Spring Gown.

A popular design for a useful spring gown is a full plain skirt, the bodice ending at the waist, with a slight point in front. It has a deep roll collar cut in one, with a wide open revers, both braided all round. A collar band and slight vest fill the vacuum to the throat. The sleeves are full from elbow to shoulder and tight from elbow to wrist. This can be made in a variety of materials. Comparatively inexpensive are camel hair cloths or plain shades of drab, brown, dark violet, dark green, dark blue and dark claret suiting in a mixture of gray and brown tones, woven to resemble basket work, and the tweeds of a similar character. Slightly dearer are the finer plain cloths, the covert coating costumes, a material now to be had in many shades, butcher blue being most fashionable, coarse wave diagonal serge and varieties of tweeds. Fashion seems to take the direction of bold weaving, with checks of the indistinct order, and some honeycomb patterns, like net meshes.

MUNYON'S

GREAT TEST CONTINUES.

Thousands of Persons Suffering From Rheumatism Call for a Free Sample of Munyon's Guaranteed Cure.

Watch This Paper for Reports of Results From Day to Day.

The Distribution Today Began at 9 O'Clock, at the Journal Office—This is the Last Day.

Again on Thursday the afflicted continued to come in in increasing numbers to obtain the free trial bottles of Munyon's Rheumatic Cure, which has brought relief to multitudes of sufferers after other means had failed.

The best representative citizens of Fort Wayne in all the walks of life composed the throngs who called.

They are determined to give Professor Munyon a fair and full trial and this is all he asks.

The accounts given of suffering, in many cases continued for years, were truly pathetic. One tells of a wife confined to her room for years, another of a father on crutches unable to provide for those dependent on him—a young lady just entering on a career of usefulness stricken down by this terrible disease and crippled, as she feared, for life. What nobler work could engage the attention of men than the relief of suffering such as this?

The distribution will continue through Friday and close at 6 o'clock on Friday evening.

RHEUMATISM CURED.

Munyon's rheumatism cure is guaranteed to cure rheumatism in any part of the body. Acute or muscular rheumatism can be cured in from one to five days. It speedily cures shooting pains, sciatica, lumbago and all rheumatic pains in the back, hips and loins. It seldom fails to give relief after one or two doses, and almost invariably cures before one bottle has been used. Price, 25c.

STOMACH AND DYSPEPSIA CURE

Munyon's Stomach and Dyspepsia Cure cures all forms of indigestion and stomach trouble, such as rising food, distress after eating, shortness of breath and all affections of the heart caused by indigestion, wind on the stomach, bad taste, offensive breath, loss of appetite, faintness or weakness of stomach, headache from indigestion, soreness of the stomach, coated tongue, heartburn, shooting pains of the stomach, constipation, dizziness, faintness and lack of energy. Price, 25c,

Munyon's Nerve Cure cures all the symptoms of nervous exhaustion, such as depressed spirits, failure of memory, restless and sleepless nights, pains in the head and dizziness. It cures general debility, stimulates and strengthens the nerves and tones up the whole body. Price, 25c.

Munyon's Kidney Cure cures pains in back, loins or groins from kidney disease, dropsy of the feet and limbs, frequent desire to pass water, dark colored and turbid urine, sediment in the urine and diabetes. Price, 25 cents.

CATARRH CURE.

Catarrh positively cured—Are you willing to spend 50 cents for a cure that positively cures catarrh by removing the cause of the disease? If so ask your druggist for a 25 cent bottle of Munyon's Catarrh Cure and a 25-cent bottle of Catarrh Tablets. The catarrh cure will eradicate the disease from the system and the tablets will cleanse and heal the afflicted parts and restore them to a natural and healthful condition.

Munyon's Liver Cure corrects headache, biliousness, jaundice, constipation and all liver diseases. Price, 25 cents.

Munyon's Cold Cure prevents pneumonia and breaks up a cold in a few hours. Price 25 cents.

Munyon's Cough Cure stops cough, night sweats, allays soreness and speedily heals the lungs. Price 25 cents.

Munyon's Female Remedies are a boon to all women. Price 25 cents.

Munyon's Headache Cure stops headache in three minutes. Price 25 cents

Munyon's Pile Ointment positively cures all forms of piles. Price 25 cents.

Munyon's Asthma Herbs are guaranteed to relieve Asthma in three minutes and Munyon's Asthma Cure used in connection with Munyon's Asthma Herbs to cure in five days. Price 50 cents each.

Munyon's Blood Cure eradicates all impurities of the blood. Price 25 cents.

Munyon's Vitalizer imparts new life, restores lost powers to weak and debilitated men. Price $1.

Munyon's Homeopathic Remedy Company puts up specifics for nearly every disease, mostly for 25 cents a bottle.

A NIGHT ATTACK.

Nicaraguan Rebels Surprise the Government Soldiers.

Bocas Del Toro Attacked by a Body of Well Armed Men, but the Soldiers Triumph.

COLON, Colombia March 22—The following are the details of the attack recently made upon Bocas Del Toro, during which the notorious Mexican bandit, Catarino Garza, was killed:

At about 4 o'clock on Friday morning, March 8, a party of rebels from Nicaragua made a desperate attack upon Bocas Del Toro. The rebels were well armed with Winchester rifles and had embarked at Greytown, Nicaragua, according to one report, or from Port Limon, Costa Rica. In any case they reached Bocas Del Toro in the schooner Favor De Dios. The attacking party consisted of fifty men under the leadership of Catarino Garza, Percel Castro and Sofaner More, a lawyer. After landing under the cover of darkness the rebels captured the policemen who were on duty, and after putting a guard over them made an attack upon the calaboose and liberated all the prisoners. The rebels then proceeded up the street with the intention of attacking the quartette which was garrisoned by about forty soldiers, under the command of Lieut. Lopez. Before attacking the quartette Garza's band broke into a house belonging to J. H. D. Finke, opposite the quartet, and from the upper story of Mr. Finke's house they opened fire upon the quartet. The government soldiers were taken by surprise and some of them were killed while still in their bunks by bullets which passed through the wooden walls of the building. But, when aroused, the soldiers fought gallantly. Their lieutenant was killed. The firing brought a number of citizens to the assistance of the troops and among them Senor Zenafin Joahin, the local political judge, and his secretary, A. R. Perez, displayed much bravery. During the fighting ten rebels were killed, fifteen were wounded and twenty-five were taken prisoners. On the government side there were four killed and nine wounded. Among the rebels killed were Garza and Castro. As soon as the invaders saw these two men fall, and being utterly unprepared for the determined resistance they had met with, they retreated towards the outskirts of the town and disappeared in the brush. During the encounter an attempt was made to set fire to the town, Castro having charge of this work. He saturated the side of a house with kerosene and was in the act of lighting a match to start the conflagration when he was noticed by a soldier, who shot him dead. The rebels also made an unsuccessful attempt to use dynamite in their operations. At certain periods of the fighting the firing was very wild, and several women were killed. In addition, a child in its mother's arms was shot through the jaw. Miss Nellie Isaacs, the government school mistress, is reported to be among the slain. The government officials, after the engagement, captured the schooner Favor de Dios, and found on board of her eighty rifles, 20,000 cartridges and blankets, clothing and rations. Naturally the attack upon Bocas Del Toro caused great excitement, and at the request of the United States consular agent, D. R. Hand, a detachment of fifty marines from the United States cruiser Atlanta were landed for the protection of American interests. On March 10 a detachment of forty-five soldiers were sent from here to Bocas Del Toro and the marines from the Atlanta re-embarked on board that vessel which arrived here the following day. An official bulletin was published on Tuesday, March 12, containing eight short messages to the governor of Panama in regard to the recent victory of the Colombian garrison at Bocas Del Toro. As this letter is mailed a crisis has been reached in the revolution in Colombia. A decisive battle is about to be fought in the department of Santander. General Reyes, the commander of the government troops, is at Cucita with 5,000 men, waiting the arrival of General Mateus, who is at the head of the reinforcement numbering 5,000 men. When these two bodies of troops are joined together a combined attack will be made upon the rebel forces, estimated to number about 6,000. This will be the largest number of men who have met in battle on Colombian soil since the war with Spain. News of the result of this encounter is anxiously expected here. Since the above letter was mailed the Associated Press correspondent at Colon, March 12, cabled that a telegraphic message had been received there from President Caro, dated Bogota, announcing that the revolution in the republic of Colombia was ended. The dispatch added that the triumph of General Reyes over the rebels had been complete, the decisive engagement referred to in the letter from Colon was fought near Medagan department of Santander. It was also announced that a rebel force numbering 3,000 men was defeated by General Mateus at Cucita. The rebels retreated toward Boyaca and there surrendered to General Mateus.

BOTH LANDLORDS LIABLE.

Woman of Findlay, Ohio, Recovers for Money Lost at Poker.

FINDLAY, Ohio, March 22—Mrs. Belle R. Trout, wife of Frank H. Trout, a leading merchant, sued Clifford A. Gartman, proprietors of the cafe Royal, and William Martin, owner of the premises, for $7,000 lost at poker in the cafe Royal. The jury today returned a verdict allowing her $1,500. The case is considered important, because of the joint liability of landlords.

FIRE AND PANIC.

Four Girls Badly Injured by Jumping.

Annie Haas, an Employe in a Match Factory, Sets Her Clothes on Fire, Creating the Panic.

CHICAGO, March 22—Fire in the Square Match company's works at Dolton and Erie streets today caused a panic among the fifty girl employes. One was perhaps fatally burned and three others seriously injured by jumping from the second story windows. The injured are:

Annie Haas.
Jennie Warner.
Ray Tate.
Unknown girl.

The injured were removed to a hospital where, it was said, that all would recover with the possible exception of Annie Haas, who caused the fire. She was opening a box of matches, which ignited, setting fire to her clothes. Rushing screaming through the factory, she scattered the burning matches about the place, setting the building on fire. Dashing through a second story window she fell senseless to the pavement followed by a dozen of the terror stricken girls. The remainder of the employes escaped by the stairway and fire escapes. The fire was extinguished with slight loss.

FIGHT WITH TRAMPS.

South Bend Officials Experience a Bloody Time.

Six of the Eight Belligerent Hobos Captured and Placed in the County Jail.

SOUTH BEND, March 22—A desperate battle between tramps and officers took place at BREMEN, near this city, this morning. The officers were victorious and now have six of the eight tramps in jail in this city. The prisoners gave their names as Charles Cooper, Fred Pepor, Joseph Boyle, William Lewis, Charles Wilson and Daniel Hamilton, and they are suspected of being implicated in a robbery at Lithjohn. They appeared before Judge Hubbard and were held in $800 each. They will probably be tried at this term of the circuit court. Two tramps are still at large.

TWO MINUTES TO BE MADE.

Rudd Doble Confident Trotters Will Beat the Present Mark.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 22—Rudd Doble, the noted horseman, who stopped off here on his way to Chicago, talked for a time about his string for the coming season. He expressed the belief that a two-minute mark would be reached, but not necessarily this year. The principal horses in which he places confidence are Stranger, Ballona, 2:11½; Prince Herschell, 2:13, and Ellard, 2:09½.

Doble depreciated betting on races and said it should be abolished in order to elevate racing. Regarding the formation of an American sporting league he said: "I believe the effort is commendable. It will do much to put racing on its merits. The National and American Trotting associations should have taken cognizance of the condition before now."

BEER WAR.

All Hopes of a Compromise Have Been Abandoned.

CHICAGO, March 22.—Efforts to stop the beer war that has been going on for several months have failed.

Henry Rigelow, of Boston, who undertook the difficult task of consolidating the independent brewers, says that he has no reason now for supposing that a combine will be formed this season.

Farmer Killed.

PERRY, O. T., March 22—James B. Ball, a well-to-do farmer, was killed ten miles north of here while returning home from this place. William Stovall was arrested, charged with the shooting, owing to some threats Stovall had made over a claim to some land which Ball had possession of.

LOCAL LINES.

The Rev. P. H. Dippell, of Philadelphia, stopped off here yesterday afternoon to visit some friends. He is en route to Huntington, where he is to hold the funeral service for the late Mr. Stout, which takes place today.

Ed Gilmartin, Herman Bergholl, Louis Fox and John Sulzer went down to Roma City this afternoon, where Messrs. Fox and Gilmartin are preparing to build cottages. They intended to go this morning, but Messrs. Bergholl, Fox and Sulzer got aboard of the Pittsburg train, which leaves a few minutes in advance of the Grand Rapids train, and did not discover their mistake until a mile beyond the junction. Then the conductor let them off and they took "cross lots" for the Grand Rapids road, expecting to catch the train at the coal docks. But they were too late. When Mr. Gilmartin discovered that his companions were not on the Rapids train, he alighted at his pole yards and came back to the city to look for them. They came in an hour later, footsore and weary.

We have had the words booklet and novelette and they have grown familiar. But we never expected to be obliged to live in this world of sin and sorrow till that monstrous word "storiette" was evolved from some silly brain. "Story ette" is the drop too much. It is indeed a

Fails to Cure a Sick Woman in California.

She Dies After Two Weeks' of Agony and Now Her Husband Will be Arrested for Criminal Negligence.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 22—Mrs. Ella Sands, the wife of a Whittier blacksmith, gave birth to a child two weeks ago. During her confinement she was denied the usual medical attendance and even skilled nursing. Instead of providing medicine and nourishing food, her husband, a Christian scientist, summoned a practitioner of that belief, whose sole treatment consisted in praying for the young mother's recovery. After three days of this treatment a violent fever set in. Even then homely remedies were despised, prayer still constituting the sole treatment. The woman died this morning and the husband will be summoned before a coroner's jury to explain his action.

RECALLS AN OLD CRIME.

Governor Matthews Pardons Joseph Wade, a Murderer.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 22—The pardon of Joseph Wade from the northern prison by Governor Matthews recalls a crime that created intense excitement in this county fifteen years ago. Wade was a saloonkeeper and lived with a Mrs. Brown while her husband was serving a term in the penitentiary. Soon after Brown's return home his body was found at a railroad crossing with the head crushed, and near by was found a buggy bespattered with blood. All the indications pointed to murder and Wade and Mrs. Brown were arrested for the crime and both convicted and given life sentences, one of the children testifying that Mrs. Brown had killed their father. Wade is in poor health and was pardoned on that account.

CRIPPLED FOR LIFE.

Eatiana Woman Shot by a Man That Was Set for Thieves.

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 22—During the absence of his wife Calvin Ross fixed up a loaded shotgun for the benefit of thieves, who had been entering his cellar and carrying off articles. The gun was arranged so as to be discharged when the cellar door was opened. When Mrs. Ross returned she was not told of the gun. She went to open the cellar door and an explosion occurred. The gun had been discharged, the contents taking effect in the woman's lower limbs, making frightful wounds. She will be crippled for life.

Condemned the Cows.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22—Every cow of a herd of eleven at the State university dairy, on the outskirts of the city, has been condemned by the inspector of the board of health, who has ordered the animals annihilated on account of tuberculosis. All the cows had the disease in an advanced stage and the proprietor admitted he had been serving customers with the milk, although he knew the cows were diseased. He had bought some of the cows for $5 each. In extenuation he pleaded that he had to support his family, but afterwards admitted that he owned considerable city property and is far from being a poor man. The authorities will probably arrest him on a criminal charge.

Tomahawked by a Cuttler.

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., March 22—Jas. Howard, a turnkey at the Kansas state prison was tomahawked last night by an Indian convict, who is serving a sentence for murder committed in the territory. The Indian had been at work with a hatchet and Howard, who was near, turned his back. That instant the Indian sank the blade in his skull, inflicting a fatal wound. In disarming the convict, other guards had narrow escapes. No cause for the act is known. It is believed the Indian is insane.

Sloop Confiscated.

VICTORIA, B. C., March 22—A new, four ton sloop unnamed, but sailing from Seattle, has been seized and confiscated by Canadian government officials off Vancouver Island for smuggling. The Indians along the coast have been holding high carnival for weeks. The stimulant being the whisky supplied by this nameless sloop. Three men, two of them Japanese, constituting the crew, have been fined by a Victoria magistrate.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 22.—Ex-Mayor and Ex Congressman Richard Vaux died at his home here this morning from an attack of grippe.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 22.—West M. Holt, superintendent of the dining and sleeping cars of the Soo railroad, died here last night from the effects of a surgical operation.

Wants $100,000.

ALTON, Ill., March 22—Louis Roberts sued Miss H. S. Haskell for $100,000 damages because the latter, as principal of the Monticello seminary, ordered her students not to go to Roberts' store because she said, he had received surreptitious letters for some of the students.

Died at the Age of 116.

NEW YORK, March 22—Mrs. Christie Washington, born in bondage in the Raritan valley in 1779, when it was occupied by soldiers of the revolution, died in Lottery Field, a colored settlement north of Somerville, N. J., last night. The eldest of her children is eighty-nine years old.

A FAITHFUL SERVANT.

Death of Isabel Workman, Who Was Born a Slave.

She Had Served Four Generations in One Family—Her Last Days Made Comfortable.

Yesterday afternoon at the home of Hon. Walpole G. Colerick occurred the death of Isabella Workman, who was born a slave some ninety years ago and who has faithfully served four generations in the family with which she spent her last days.

She was born in Brownsville, Pa., in the family of Neal Gillespie, the grandfather of James G. Blaine, and the great grandfather of Mrs. John Lardwill, W. G. Henry and P. B. Colerick, of this city, when slaves were still held there, and was the daughter of black parents. At the death of Neal Gillespie she became by will the property of his daughter, Mrs. Luke Walpole, the testament describing her as "one black plekaninny, aged four years; value $10." But Isabella Workman never knew she was a slave. Luke Walpole and his wife kept her as a servant when they removed to Indianapolis, and she was never told of the circumstances of her early life. At the death of Luke Walpole she passed into the service of his son, Robert L. Walpole, who became then the head of the family, and subsequently came to this city, where she was housekeeper for Mrs. David H. Colerick, a daughter of Luke Walpole and a sister of Robert L. Walpole. When James G. Blaine visited Fort Wayne he had a long and interesting talk with Miss Belle, as she was familiarly known.

The last days of this historic character were made pleasant as the loving care of an appreciative family could be show, and in her death the Colerick family feels a truly personal loss.

The remains will be shipped to Indianapolis for interment.

CURRENT.

Alice, the wife of Conductor Robert Cherry, of the Nickel Plate, died Thursday morning of consumption at the age of forty years. The deceased lived at 38 St. Marys avenue. The remains will be shipped to Ohio for interment over the Findlay, Fort Wayne and Western road tomorrow.

A Part of the New South.

Julian Ralph's description in Harper's Magazine of northern Alabama, Tennessee and Georgia reads rather like some tale of the magical growth of a region under the spell of an enchanter's wand. In 1850 the great industrial revival in the south began. It was literally a revolution of the old industrial systems.

From Roanoke, Va., to Birmingham, Ala., extends the great coal and iron region of the south. It spreads into West Virginia and eastern Kentucky. In Kentucky the coal veins yield pure cannel, semianthracite and bituminous coal. The Chattanooga district contains 20,000 square miles in three states, Tennessee, northern Alabama and Georgia. One mining plant near Birmingham turns out 600,000 tons of high grade coking coal in a year.

A remarkable fact connected with the mining belt in question is that all through its extent iron ore, limestone and coal run along together. Within a stone's throw of the coal mine is the vein of iron ore, and in the mountain sides is the limestone to make the lime used in smelting and clearing the iron ore. With coal, iron and lime thus together under ground and a soil richly adapted to grazing, farming and fruit raising above, the new south is indeed blest beyond almost any other region on the globe.

The men that take the land in developing the mineral resources of the south are themselves chiefly southerners. But the capital they use is northern and British. At the year 1870, 100,000 tons of pig iron were made in the Chattanooga district. Twenty years afterward 1,800,000 tons were made. The iron is sent north to be manufactured. The new south has yet few factories where iron and steel articles are made. She must still send north for nearly all her plows and cooking stoves. But the factories will come. Plainly nature in thus putting cheap fuel and iron mines together meant for centuries to follow.

Mining and manufacturing can be carried on cheaper in the south than in the north. Labor is cheaper, and the climate is milder. The negroes make good miners when they are strictly "bossed." Mr. Ralph says. And there is no less so savage and merciless as a black can be. The negroes usually mine the iron ore and white men the coal. The mining region of which the Chattanooga district is part includes seven states—the two Virginias, North Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee, Alabama and Kentucky.

The city of Morocco, lately plundered and damaged by the sultan's own rebel subjects, was founded as long ago as 1072. At the beginning of the seventeenth century it had a population of 700,000. Now it is falling into ruin and decay and has only 80,000 inhabitants. Its decline marks with equal step the ruin and decay of the Moorish race, formerly a noble, cultivated and proud people. The Moors preserved about all the science and civilization there were in the middle ages. Their decline can be accounted for in no other way than by the conclusion that as a race they have lived their time out. Anglo-Saxon race will go down sooner or later.

MORE BURGLARS ABOUT.

Police Called to an East Washington Street Home.

The Three Burglars Caught by Citizens Yesterday Busted Open the Safe of $300 Loth.

Between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock last night the police were hastily called to the home of a well known and prominent citizen, who lives on East Washington street, near the corner of Clay. The gentleman of the house was away and his wife and mother-in-law were badly scared by three men, who made persistent efforts to enter the residence. It appears that three tough looking fellows entered the yard at the same time. Two of them approached the front door and knocked. When the door was opened the man took a careful survey of the interior and then asked if a man named Mr. Brown lived there. Upon being told no they went out on the sidewalk where they remained for some moments talking in a low voice. Not long afterward the thoroughly frightened ladies heard a noise in the back yard, near the house. When the back door was opened the same three men were found in the yard. They all ran as the door was opened but not long afterwards there was another knock at the front door. The ladies again opened the door and this time only one man stood there. He asked if a man named Jones lived in the neighborhood.

This time the cheeky intruder was told to clear out as quickly as his legs would carry him as the police had been notified. The fellow slunk away and a moment later the police were called for by telephone.

The officers searched the entire neighborhood but could get no traces of the three men. There is no doubt in the minds of the officers but that the fellows were bent on robbing the place later in the evening, and had inquired at the house as a means of informing themselves as to who was at home.

SCARED AWAY.

Night before last burglars attempted to enter the home of N. Conover, on East Wayne street, but were scared away by the family dog, who raised a fearful racket.

ROUND UP EM.

This morning, before Mayor Oakley, the three burglars who were yesterday run down and captured by citizens in the eastern part of the city, were up for trial. Two gave their names as John Raymond and Wm. Roney, but the younger of the three refused to give his name. It is presumed from papers found upon one of the men that all three prisoners are west side Chicago toughs. They plead not guilty, but the evidence against them was conclusive. They were therefore bound over to the circuit court in the sum of $500 each and all went to jail.

GEN. JAS. B. STEADMAN.

If He Was Killed He Wanted His Name Spelled Right.

Hartford City News.

Yesterday while placing in type the name of Dr. J. W. Younge an intelligent News compositor chose to reject the final "e" as unnecessary and set up the name plain "Young." The doctor called later to express his disapprobation of the compositor's methods and also to tell a story that was appropriate to the occasion.

"Just before the battle of Chickamauga," said the doctor, 'Gen. Jas. B. Steadman was seized with a presentiment that he would be killed before night. Such presentiments were not uncommon and they not infrequently came true. Gen. Steadman's brother officers tried to discourage his paying any attention to the premonition, but he could not shake off the impression that his end was near. Finally a newspaper correspondent approached the general, and failing to cheer him up, asked:

"'Well, general, in case you are killed, what can I do for you?'

"'Now, if there was one thing that annoyed General Steadman more than another it was to have his name spelled Steedman—with a double 'e' instead of an 'ea'—as the newspapers almost invariably got it. Quick as a flash the general answered:

"'What can you do for me? Why, you can spell my name right in your account of my death.'

"The general went through the battle of Chickamauga safe, but there was one newspaper correspondent who ever after took pains to spell his name right, and that's what I want you to do with mine."

TWO BIG "WALKS."

An Allen County Farmer Boy Beats Them All.

The Cake Walk at Randall Hall Attracts Fort Wayne's Fun Hunters—It Was Funny.

There are cake walks and there are other walks but a young man named Parker, who lives at Wallen, Allen county, perpetrated a feat this week which has a cake walks and all else of a like nature in the shade. On Sunday last Parker, who is about twenty-five years of age, received a letter from Plymouth announcing the illness of a friend at that town. Having no large amount of ready cash he determined, instead of taking the train, to walk over and see his friend. He, therefore, set out from Wentler Chapel at 5 o'clock on Monday morning. He arrived in Plymouth on Tuesday, having walked the entire distance. He spent the day with his friend and also staid all night in Plymouth. On Wednesday morning he set out for Warsaw before daylight, arriving in that town at 8 o'clock. He rested a few moments and then set out for Fort Wayne, arriving here at 7 o'clock in the evening. Parker did not seem particularly fatigued, and when seen by a SENTINEL representative in Dreier's drug store he was standing with his back to the stove and eating colored taffy out of a large sized paper sack.

About 8:30 o'clock Parker started out afoot for his home in Wallen, saying he guessed he would get there and go to bed early "as he was a little tired."

THE CAKE WALK.

Between 400 and 500 persons, many of them ladies and gentlemen whose pleasure is the Fort Wayne club, attended the cake walk given by the Apollo club, last evening.

Cleno's orchestra furnished music and at 9:30 the grand march began, led by John Stewart and Miss Riggs. This was followed by specialties given by Fred Jones and Julian Anthony. The great cake walk was then announced. The judges were Messrs. Louis Fox, John Mohr, Robert Fisher, W. H. Watt and E. J. Hathorne, and the cake walkers were: John Stewart and Miss Lena Richardson, Harry Brown and Mrs. Carrie Gresham, Edward Jones and Miss May Parker, Dr. N. Louis Myers and Mrs. Bradshaw, William Dorsey and Miss Daisy Jones, William Oliver and Miss Grace Galea.

The exhibition which followed was highly amusing and, of course, entertaining. Such a "swell" as never cut in Fort Wayne by an equal number of colored ladies and gentlemen. At the conclusion Robert Fisher announced the winners as follows: Harry Brown and Carrie Gresham, the silver water pitcher as the best walkers; John Stewart and Lena Richardson, the second prize for the handsomest couple, Dr. Moyers and his partner, the third prize for the best dressed couple.

The audience then dispersed, but those who lingered in the hall were soon aware of a dark storm cloud with threatening, razorlike gleams of lightning, which appeared to be gathering in the distance. The cloud passed over, however, and it did not rain—blood.

NICHOLSON BILL EFFECTS.

Judge Elliott Talks of Various Sections of the Act.

Judge Byron K. Elliott, of Indianapolis, was asked by the Daily News of that city to give his opinion regarding some of the provisions of the Nicholson bill, concerning which there has been some controversy. His answers will be interesting to many of our readers and are as follows:

"Under the Nicholson bill can a saloonkeeper carry on any other business in the room where he has a bar?"

"Section 2 of the act is very obscure," was the reply. "It is difficult to say just what it means. It starts out by forbidding the sale of other things than intoxicating liquors in a room, but it provides that nothing in the provisions of this act shall be construed to forbid the sale of cigars and tobacco in such places of business. It also provides that if the applicant for a license desires to carry on any other, or different business, he shall state the same in his application for license, and the same may be granted or refused by the board of commissioners.

"The rule is that penal statutes are to be strictly construed, and I am inclined to think, although I have some doubt upon the question, that a party may be licensed to carry on other business in connection with the sale of intoxicating liquors. But the matter is left to the discretion of the commissioners. The author of section 2 does not seem to have had a very clear idea of what he intended to accomplish, and it will take a judicial construction to settle the meaning of the section."

"What, in your opinion, will be the effect of the Nicholson bill on the quart shops?"

"From the cursory examination I have been able to give this law, my impression is—and it is but a vague impression—that the law does not apply to where greater quantities of liquor than a quart at a time are sold. As to this, however, I may be wrong, because I have not given the subject sufficient study."

"Does the United States government by collecting revenue from druggists for selling whisky between quart and five gallon quantities thereby extend to such druggists the right to sell beyond the possibility of state interference?

"No. The state may regulate the sale of intoxicating liquors. The law recognizes the business of selling intoxicating liquors as one requiring legislation by the state, and the police power of the state is broad enough to authorize it to regulate the sale within its own borders, and, in my judgment, to absolutely prohibit the sale, should the legislature deem absolute prohibition required by the best interests of the people of the state."

"Will one prescription from a reputable physician, in the hands of the druggist, only answer for the sale of spirits in less quantities than a quart to one person a single time, or will the one prescription serve the druggist for many cases and for an indefinite period?"

"No. The statute requires a prescription for each sale. The law can not be evaded, as I believe, by taking out a perpetual prescription from any doctor in the state."

ANOTHER WILD RACE.

Supt. H. W. Felts Catches a Bicycle Thief.

The Fellow Had Stolen a Wheel From W. H. Phillips—Locked Up at the Station.

There are evil days for wrong doers in and about Fort Wayne.

Wednesday, near the corner of Superior and Harrison streets, a fine bicycle owned by W. B. Phillips, of the Fort Wayne steam laundry, was stolen by some unknown person. The wheel had been borrowed by one of Phillips' employes, who went out on an errand and had left the bike standing at the curb.

Yesterday it was learned that a man riding a wheel which answered the description of the one stolen had been seen riding towards Wallen. Mr. Phillips sent one of his employes out with a buggy, but got no trace of the wheel. It appears, however, that the thief, instead of going to Wallen, went southwest, staying last night at Heiser's, saloon, four miles southwest of the city.

This morning H. W. Felts, superintendent of the poor farm, and County Physician Tinkham were about eight miles in the country in a buggy, as Mr. Felts was looking at a horse which he was thinking of buying.

On their way back the two gentlemen met a young man riding a wheel at a rapid rate and acting in a suspicious manner. He was stopped and asked where he got the "bike." Failing to give a satisfactory answer, Superintendent Felts took the fellow in custody and started towards this city.

At the organ factory Mr. Felts got out of the buggy and went in to telephone to Sheriff Clausmeier. While this was being done the thief broke away and ran. Felts started after him and ran the fellow to a point not far from the Pittsburg pumping station near this city.

The race was a wild one and pursued and pursuer went over fences and through muddy ditches at a mad rate.

Mr. Felts kept a tight hold on the thief when he finally caught him and the fellow was brought to this city and locked up at the police station.

He gave his name as John Waiers. He is about twenty-five years old and is well known about the city.

SENATOR TURPIE, who has returned to Indianapolis from Washington, is purveyor of the information that Senator Voorhees is not going to enter the lecture field, as reported. "The senator never had any idea of delivering a lecture," said Mr. Turpie, Wednesday, "and the rumor was simply a newspaper canard."

ADJUTANT GENERAL HOSMER says he does not yet know whether it will be possible to increase the number of companies in the Indiana legion. Under the new militia act the number of companies can be increased to fifty-one, but the appropriation was reduced so much, the adjutant says, that it will be impossible to add many new companies, if any. Under the law the governor has full authority to say when, where and how long the annual encampment shall be held. The adjutant said that until the governor gets some of the pressing work off his hands, the time and place of this year's encampment will not be discussed. It is believed that the encampment will be held near Indianapolis.

THE SENTINEL of Saturday is always the best paper of the week, being twice the usual size and full of interesting and instructive reading matter. The SENTINEL tomorrow will be a bright number. Our readers can be prepared to find in it several articles which will be sure to please them.

PEOPLE who claim to know all about it say this will be a bad year for maple sugar business. The sugar makers were encouraged to believe that owing to the severe cold winter, deep snow and supposed depth of frost in the ground that it would be a good year but to their surprise but little sap is running. They account for this from the fact that there is but very little moisture in the ground.

CONCERNING some of the provisions of the Nicholson bill there is, perhaps, real reason to doubt their meaning. THE SENTINEL today gives the opinion of Judge Elliott, of Indianapolis, on some of the sections. It is a matter of regret that he confirms the opinion already expressed during the debate on the bill, that some of the sections have not been carefully drawn. But in its vital parts we believe that the law is fortified constitutionally.

THE supreme court of the state has decided the case involving the distribution of the dog tax fund in Center township of Marion county. The court holds that the township trustee is required to turn over to each school corporation in his township its proportionate share of the surplus dog fund in his hands, pro rata according to the enumeration in each school corporation. It is held that the custody of the fund is in the township trustee, but he must account to each school town and each school city within his township for its proportionate share of the surplus. It is held that in case a town or city extends into two or more townships the same rule must be applied.

The Chen Yuen Again.

It is hard to understand just why the reliable cable correspondent has such a spite at the Chinese crack battleship Chen Yuen. At the first skirmish on the water between the Japanese and Chinese, the correspondent told us the Chen Yuen was sunk to the bottom of the sea. This was very sad, and it was thought now that China must give up at once. But, behold, at the mouth of the Yalu river the Chen Yuen was hopelessly killed dead and sunk again.

But the Chen Yuen has a remarkable faculty of lifting herself out of the depths of the ocean and sailing in and fighting anew. After she had been finally sunk at Yalu she appears serenely in the straits about Port Arthur and goes into the fight as desperately as anything Chinese can go into a fight. Again this much battered Chen Yuen is hopelessly sunk by the Japs at Port Arthur.

We breathe a sigh in her memory and also a sigh of relief that this time her loss is a dead sure thing and we shall no longer be obliged to reconstruct our ideas over her.

But no! The very latest is that she was not sunk at all, but is above water and that Chinese workmen are repairing her for the Japanese, who captured her. Great is the American cable correspondent at the seat of war.

Public interest was divided the week of the Gould wedding between that and another event—namely, the Vanderbilt divorce. Our leading millionaire families, whatever else their sins and shortcomings, have been thus far singularly free from domestic scandals. In that respect they were a model to their fellow countrymen. But now the record is broken in both the Vanderbilt and Astor families. At the same time that the divorce of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt from her husband is granted the petition of J. Coleman Drayton for divorce from his wife, Caroline Astor Drayton, is in court, as well as her cross petition against him. All right minded people must regret these suits. Divorce is justifiable and necessary at times, but it ought not to be either justifiable or necessary in families that have all that earth can afford to make them happy as well as honorable and clean morally. People with the millions and the social standing of the Astors and Vanderbilts ought to hold it incumbent on themselves to set a respectable example to the world. And whatever any crank may say the highest and best development of society thus far is the family and a beautiful, wholesome, pure and loving family life. From it has sprung whatever is best in social progress.

New York city has quarreled cheerfully over allowing the flags of other nations, particularly the green flag of Erin, to wave over her city hall or buildings. Whatever nationality was able to muster a compact body of voters at election time wanted the right to exploit their birthplace by a display of their old country emblem on the city flagpoles on Washington's birthday and other American feast days. The Irish, being the governors of New York, gained their point. The green flag with the yellow harp flaunted proudly in the breeze alongside of the stars and stripes. Now it can do so no longer. The legislative act recently passed on the subject prohibits the flying of any flag except that of the United States over public buildings.

The fate of Wilbur W. Perry ought to be a warning to all men who desire to be members of a state legislature. Perry is said to have been the most promising citizen Yale has graduated in 25 years. Next Monday the Panhandle depot at Marion, Ind., will be open for business. It is a handsome building, equipped with all modern improvements and lighted by electricity.

R. Knickerbocker, of 159 Montgomery street, had two fingers amputated yesterday. Dr. Steuben performed the operation. The unfortunate man is a car builder and is employed in the east shops.

Although no circular has been issued by the Southern Passenger association announcing the fact, it is stated that the reunion of union and confederate veterans which takes place in Houston, Texas, in May, has been granted a rate of one cent a mile.

Joseph Kauser, who has been afflicted with asthma for a great many years and who has been unable to work for three months, is now confined to his bed and is in a bad way physically. Mr. Kauser is an employe of the Pittsburg blacksmith shop.

The Pittsburg locomotive works have recently delivered to the Alabama Great Southern a freight engine weighing 140,000 pounds, which is spoken of on account of a number of improvements in its construction as doing remarkable work.

J. S. Kerns, sale agent, and two of the department foremen of the Lima Locomotive and Machine company, of Lima, Ohio, were here yesterday examining the ore car at the Pittsburg shops, with a view to bidding on the construction of 1,000 of them.

Engineer Stotler, of the Nickel Plate, has returned from Bellevue, Ohio, and resumed his run, after an absence from duty of over a month. His daughter was lying very ill during all that time and the engineer was laying off to take care of her. He lives in Bellevue.

The Macon and Atlantic railroad was purchased by the Macon, Southern and Savannah railroad for $250,000. The road was begun several years ago to connect Macon with Savannah and part of the line was graded and rails laid. The purchasing road is another projected parallel line.

The labor organizations on the Union Pacific have for some years employed a walking delegate to look after reported grievances at a salary of $2,500 a year, and they have now voted to dispense with his services. It is stated that on several other railway systems similar action is being taken.

Leonard Jockel has gone to Cleveland, Ohio, to attend the funeral of his brother, Christopher Jockel, of whose death he was appraised by telegraph yesterday. The deceased was one of Cleveland's most prominent contractors and builders. Mrs. Jockel accompanied her husband to Cleveland.

Employes of the American Express company are uneasy, as at several points of late there have been changes not only in officials but in the clerical departments, where men have long held their positions. Two of the division superintendents have been reduced in rank and some of the route agents discharged.

Employes of the Panhandle line have received notice that they will be required to enter on another course of instructions on the airbrake, on April 1. Some time ago the trainmen were examined on their knowledge of the airbrake and were given a book of instructions to carefully study, preparatory to another examination.

Last evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hickman, 101 Sherman street, occurred the marriage of their charming daughter, Rosa D., to Mr. Almon W. Seely, the popular young railroader of the Pennsylvania company, Rev. H. M. Johnson officiating. This will be a surprise to the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Seely, as only the near relatives and a few friends were present.

Yesterday at Valparaiso Henry Heck, the lad who attempted to wreck a Nickel Plate train a few weeks ago, was brought before Judge John H. Gillilette, in the circuit court, and after a preliminary examination regarding his sanity, which was the defense his attorneys made and which was not sustained, he was sentenced to seven years at hard labor in the Michigan City penitentiary. Heck is only nineteen years old and of a very low order of intelligence. Attorney Samuel L. Morris, of this city, represented the Nickel Plate company in the case.

The simultaneous appearance in Seattle, Wash., of E. V. Debs, of the American Railway union, and John M. Egan, ex-president of the General Managers' association, which conducted the great railroad strike, has resulted in trouble. In an interview last Monday Egan spoke severely of Debs, charging him with responsibility for the illness of hundreds of men who have been in the railroad business many years and were competent in many ways. He animadverted severely on Debs's union and its strike methods. After reading this interview Debs addressed a mass meeting, at which he scored Egan in a most savage manner, openly accusing him of dishonesty, etc. He loudly asserted that Egan would never meet him in private or public and discuss "who were the conspirators," for he (Egan) knew who they were and what would be the result.

THE ART OF ACTING.

Some Simple Stage Directions Laid Down by the Gifted Booth.

Edwin Booth is dead.

NEW YORK, March 11.—"Acting is neither art nor science," said the actor Booth on one occasion—that is, the actor of persons or objects in repose—"but is rather an imitation of the stage nature in action," when the Shakespearian star was delivering his famous lecture on "The Art of Acting." Booth, the chief tragedian of the American stage, was the only actor who ever made a study of the rudiments of the art of acting as regards gesture and speech. He carried the idea so far as to walk with a book on his head until the pupil of the eye is perfectly balanced, a proof of a good carriage. On entering the stage and the first thing from the audience, thus throwing the body in full bloom on the face and eyes. When an actor and actress walk across the stage together, the actress should be nearer the audience, the actor a step ahead of her. If she wears a train, it will be easier for them to turn with grace in making a turn, take a step to one side and do not move around on the ball of the foot. In sitting down place the right foot on that of the left and will be apt to sprain it, place the left a little in front of the right and slide into the chair with a side movement, then turn to the front.

In regard to gesture, forget you have hands and feet. Remain quiet. When not called upon for action, stand or sit with as much grace and ease as possible. Use the hand nearest an object, such as a letter, when it is necessary to pick it. Take it from one hand to the other, never moving the arm across the body. In walking a movement with the arms make it from the shoulder—not from the elbow, as it shows a graceful position.

A professional of ability listens with natural attention to the scene that is being enacted. As a rule, the amateur starts into action each time he speaks and relapses into utter indifference when silent. When one has become a good listener, one has taken an important step in the art of acting, as significance to the attentive actor will be given to the audience. It is what is taught when pupils are supposed to have obtained control of the stage as an actor or actress. As Booth once said, "It cannot learn you now." Action should always go to the point, and a quick, decisive action should be taught first and last and first.

Elocution teaches how to manage the voice, how and when to take breath and the four conventional gestures that must occasionally relieve speech. Studies in pronunciation never produce an actor. A finished actor will not let you feel you can prophesy what he will say and do under certain circumstances. When bound by natural and discretionary limits, passion becomes vehemence; gesture may be correct, but it is not spontaneous expression may be all faultless, but not inspiring. The elocutionist is the bane of a conventional art.

Scarcely a pupil ever went to Booth's studio who did not know the "portion scene" from "Romeo and Juliet." The great actor would ask the applicant take through the scene, and he or she did not get very far and say, "Stop home and make plain my dear," he would hand her a typewritten sex to and say, "If you can do this, I can make an actress of you." Seeing a drawing room, which a young girl enters. She is expecting a visit from her lover; no childish impatience, she does not go to the window, selects needlework; pretends to employ herself, listens, a bell rings. It is her lover to the door; receives a letter, reads; is disappointed by its contents, angry, tears it to work with increased indifference, passes through the various forms of humor, ending with a burst of tears.

This whole scene was in pantomime No. 2 supplements such as thread, needle, thimble, letter were the actress allowed. All of us could "spout" Shakespeare, but it took us a month to do that simple scene naturally. The French method of acting is to address a soliloquy to the audience. In England and America the actor ignores the spectators. The latter is certainly the more natural method. How many amateurs in a pathetic scene would be willing to shake their hands that they could secure a dramatic triumph if they could keep real wet tears! The great actor carries you with him in his grief, but he does not make himself incoherent by natural sobs. His art is so exquisite he convinces you all his sadness is natural.

MAGGIE JAMES CHILTON.

Had a Big Trade.

"I thought you said you had worked up a good trade here," said the man who had just bought a dog store.

"So I had," replied the man who had just sold. "I put in six months working it up, and it's the best in the district."

"Best in the district!" exclaimed the purchaser. "Why, a man can't make enough money here to keep his shoes shined."

"Well," admitted the other slowly, "I didn't say anything about making money, you know."

"But you said you had a big trade."

"Yes, I said that."

"Bounty stream of people coming and going most of the day."

"Overall saying something to that effect."

A Spring Gown.

A popular design for a tailor spring gown is in full plaits, short at the knee and flaring at the walk, with a slight train in front. It has deep cuffs after the manner of a Watteau in the days of yore. The sleeves are full from elbow to shoulder and tight from elbow to wrist. This can be made in a variety of materials. Comparatively fashionable ladies can afford fabrics of plain shades of cloth, serge, silk, black, dark green, dark blue and dark claret suiting, mixtures of gray and brown tweeds, to resemble basket work, and the tweeds of a similar character. Slightly dearer are the new plaid cloths, the newest cutting costumes in material now to be had in many shades. Another line being used fashionably is corduroy, in all-wool serge and varieties of tweeds. Fashion seems to incline the direction of full trimmings with shades of the individual color, and some honeycomb patterns, like net meshes.

GREAT TEST CONTINUES.

Thousands of Persons Suffering From Rheumatism Call for a Free Sample of Munyon's Guaranteed Cure.

Watch This Paper for Reports of Results From Day to Day.

The Distribution Today Began at 9 o'clock, at the Journal Office. This is the Last Day.

Again on Thursday the afflicted continued to come in in increasing numbers to obtain the free trial bottles of Munyon's Rheumatic Cure, which has brought relief to multitudes of sufferers after other means had failed.

The best representative citizens of Fort Wayne in all the walks of life composed the throngs who called.

They are determined to give Professor Munyon a fair and full trial and this is all he asks.

The accounts given of suffering in many cases continued for years, were truly pathetic. One tells of a wife confined to her room for years, another of a father on crutches unable to provide for those dependent on him—a young lady just entering on a career of usefulness stricken down by this terrible disease and crippled, as she feared, for life. What nobler work could engage the attention of man than the relief of suffering such as this?

The distribution will continue through Friday and close at 6 o'clock on Friday evening.

RHEUMATISM CURED

Munyon's rheumatism cure is guaranteed to cure rheumatism in any part of the body. Acute or muscular rheumatism can be cured in from one to five days. It speedily cures shooting pains, sciatica, lumbago and all rheumatic pains in the back, hips and loins. It seldom fails to give relief after one or two doses, and almost invariably cures before one bottle has been used. Price, 25c.

STOMACH AND DYSPEPSIA CURE

Munyon's Stomach and Dyspepsia Cure cures all forms of indigestion and stomach trouble, such as rising food, distress after eating, shortness of breath and all affections of the heart caused by indigestion, wind on the stomach, bad taste, offensive breath, loss of appetite, faintness or weakness of stomach, headache from indigestion, soreness of the stomach, coated tongue, heartburn, shooting pains of the stomach, constipation, dizziness, faintness and lack of energy. Price, 25c.

Munyon's Nerve Cure cures all the symptoms of nervous exhaustion, such as depressed spirits, failure of memory, restless and sleepless nights, pains in the head and dizziness. It cures general debility, stimulates and strengthens the nerves and tones up the whole body. Price, 25c.

Munyon's Kidney Cure cures pains in back, loins or groins from kidney disease, dropsy of the feet and limbs, frequent desire to pass water, dark colored and turbid urine, sediment in the urine and diabetes. Price, 25 cents.

CATARRH CURE

Catarrh positively cured—Are you willing to spend 50 cents for a cure that positively cures catarrh by removing the cause of the disease? If so ask your druggist for a 25 cent bottle of Munyon's Catarrh Cure and a 25 cent bottle of Catarrh Tablets. The catarrh cure will eradicate the disease from the system and the tablets will cleanse and heal the affected parts and restore them to a natural and healthful condition.

Munyon's Liver Cure corrects headache, biliousness, jaundice, constipation and all liver diseases. Price, 25 cents.

Munyon's Cold Cure prevents pneumonia and breaks up a cold in a few hours. Price 25 cents.

Munyon's Cough Cure stops cough, night sweats, allays soreness and speedily heals the lungs. Price 25 cents.

Munyon's Female Remedies are a boon to all women. Price 25 cents.

Munyon's Headache Cure stops headache in sixty minutes. Price 25 cents.

Munyon's Pile Ointment positively cures all forms of piles. Price 25 cents.

Munyon's Asthma Herbs are guaranteed to relieve Asthma in three minutes and Munyon's Asthma Cure used in connection with Munyon's Asthma Herbs to cure in five days. Price 50 cents each.

Munyon's Blood Cure eradicates all impurities of the blood. Price 25 cents.

Munyon's Vitalizer imparts new life, restores lost powers to weak and debilitated men. Price $1.

Munyon's Homeopathic Remedy Company puts up specifics for nearly every disease, mostly for 25 cents a bottle.
